Umpiring Softball Course Released on NFHS Learning Center

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Dan Schuster

INDIANAPOLIS, IN (March 24, 2017) — The NFHS Learning Center has added another online officiating course with the release of “Umpiring Softball” at www.NFHSLearn.com. The “Umpiring Softball” course is part of the original series of sport-specific officiating courses planned for the 2016-17 school year, joining previous courses for volleyball and basketball.

“This is part of our intentional effort to increase professional development opportunities for high school officials,” said Dan Schuster, NFHS director of educational services.

In partnership with USA Softball, “Umpiring Softball” focuses on how to officiate with professionalism and addresses two common issues – interference and obstruction.

“State association administrators recognized these as issues of interest to umpires, therefore, the online course offers a series of scenarios giving umpires the opportunity to identify occurrences of interference and obstruction,” said Sandy Searcy, NFHS director of sports and liaison to the Softball Rules Committee.

Cost of the course is $20, but members of the NFHS Officials Association can take the course for $10.

With this addition of the third sport-specific officiating course, www.NFHSLearn.com now offers 49 online education courses. The NFHS plans to offer four additional sport-specific officiating courses for the 2017-18 school year.

This press release was written by Bryce Woodall, an intern in the publications/communications department at NFHS. He is a senior at Franklin (Indiana) College studying public relations.

About the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS)

The NFHS, based in Indianapolis, Indiana, is the national leadership organization for high school sports and performing arts activities. Since 1920, the NFHS has led the development of education-based interscholastic sports and performing arts activities that help students succeed in their lives. The NFHS sets direction for the future by building awareness and support, improving the participation experience, establishing consistent standards and rules for competition, and helping those who oversee high school sports and activities. The NFHS writes playing rules for 17 sports for boys and girls at the high school level. Through its 50 member state associations and the District of Columbia, the NFHS reaches more than 19,000 high schools and 11 million participants in high school activity programs, including more than 7.8 million in high school sports. As the recognized national authority on interscholastic activity programs, the NFHS conducts national meetings; sanctions interstate events; offers online publications and services for high school coaches and officials; sponsors professional organizations for high school coaches, officials, speech and debate coaches, and music adjudicators; serves as the national source for interscholastic coach training; and serves as a national information resource of interscholastic athletics and activities. For more information, visit the NFHS website at www.nfhs.org.
